Dear Ladies and Gentlemen:

It is understood about the need for education in our industry, whether it is needed due to improvements in technology and installation methods or in codes and standards. The only constant we have is that our electrical world is constantly changing. Education not only helps us keep up-to-date with emerging technologies which result in changes in code enforcement, but it can also be a factor in maintaining employment or a vital aid in finding a new position. The NC Ellis Cannady Chapter, IAEI has been one of the best resources for training and education in our industry.

Sincerely,
Education Committee Chairman, NCECC IAEI
William "AL" Parris

The North Carolina Department of Insurance, Office of State Fire Marshal, in cooperation with the North Carolina Ellis Cannady Chapter of the International Association of Electrical Inspectors is pleased to support these instructional seminars for Inspectors and Contractors in North Carolina. Our mutual goal is to fulfill our educational responsibilities and continue to keep our industry at the top levels of knowledge, safety, and service to the citizens of North Carolina.

Sincerely,
State Chief Electrical Engineer/Inspector
Joseph Starling
